FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 12, 2010
MASTERS/VETERANS
DIVISIONS

Vintage playoff setup will be announced at pairings party

Vintage Division teams play their fifth pool game today – all games at 10 a.m. – and, following that game, teams will be seeded into two divisions for playoffs.

Following the Friday games, the Vintage Division playoffs will be announced at the Vintage Pairings Party, which will be held at Mona Lisa Italian Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Mona Lisa, located at 7091 College Parkway, next to Office Depot in a shopping plaza at the southwest corner of Cleveland Avenue and College Parkway, will supply finger foods and pizza along with a cash bar ... all members of the Vintage teams are invited.

As of this writing, it is not know how the playoff divisions will be structured, but the options include 8 teams in A and 4 teams in B, or 4 & 8 or 6 & 6. Field availability will have an impact on that final decision.

Other than the pairings party, the Vintage playoff schedule will be posted on royhobbs.com and put on the World Series answering system – 239-533-7694 – about 8 p.m. Friday evening.

Good news from #11's surgery on 11/11

John Hoover, long-time Roy Hobbs umpire and player with the Akron Blues, under went esophageal cancer surgery Thursday, and the early prognosis is guarded but good.

Hoov is recovering at the Cleveland Clinic but faces 9 weeks of radiation treatments when he is strong enough to handle those. His 9-week chemo regimen apparently shrunk the tumor significantly and was a factor in surgical good news.

And for all you numerologists out there, Hoov's uniform and ump number is 11 ... his surgery was on 11-11 ... and he is currently in Room 11 in the Cleveland Clinic ICU!

Baseball... The tie that binds us together

By Tom Moore

Reunions are a time for relatives and old friends to get together and relive those days gone by.

And that's just what the Richmond Tides are doing... They have not played ball together for 12 years. But here they are at the 22nd Roy Hobbs World Series, enjoying every minute of it.

The idea for the reunion at the Series came about two years ago at the 50th birthday party for catcher and outfielder Randy Bagley. A few of the players had been to previous World Series with other teams.

Of course the name Richmond comes from their hometown of Richmond, VA. They chose Tides because a friend could get everybody a free shirt. Even their rooting section of families got in on the freebie shirts. So when they play you'll see a sea of blue shirts on and off the field.

"We've got the loudest and prettiest cheerleaders in the Series" one of the guys shouted.

"That was a no-brainer," said Manager Dwayne Carter.

Four of the players, Carter, Bagley and brothers,

Randy and Rocky Garland, have played ball together since Little League. A fifth friend, who also played with them was unable to make the trip because of a family crisis.

These four stuck together on the ball field until 10 years ago through various leagues. They went to different colleges and played ball with those teams. The Tides stopped playing ball together when "life caught up to them and got in the way."

For a team that hasn't been together, they're doing pretty good in the Series winning 3 out of 4 games. With one player, Troy Trye #3, who went 8 for 8 in their first four games. He wears that number with pride because it was given to him by a dear friend.

Andy Bagley, who only came down to Florida to watch games and play golf, was persuaded to sign up and get in uniform. He entered the game against the Rhode Island Warriors and faced a former major league pitcher, Oil Can Boyd. Andy came up with a single that drove in a run.

The team is having so much fun, they're planning on repeating the trip next year.
